

I'll get some peace of mind
Only then can I pretend
That there is truth to find
So I will have my fill of rolling hills
And stardust when I die
For now I'll see it in my mind
So I can sleep tonight
Flowers, trees, and honeybees
An ocean in the sky
Paint the scene inside of me
A world behind my eyes
Oh nature's bliss is dearly missed
When I am stuck inside
Won't you warm me up with memories of
A songbird's lullaby
Mountains stand on solid land
While kingdoms come and go
Cities built on borrowed silt
By man are swallowed whole
We weren't meant to pour cement
Down Mother Nature's weary throat
Still we milk this earth of all its worth
For what I'll never know
This is it, alone I sit
In manufactured walls
TV screens and lavish things
Won't ease a tortured soul
Oh how I long for fields of daffodils
It seems so long ago
My time has come my heart is done
Oh love I'm coming home
My time has come my heart is done
Oh love I'm coming home
